

IMPROVE CHANGE EFFECTIVENESS

“The Change Style Indicator has been a valuable part of my consulting tool kit for years. It is my instrument of choice when working with groups struggling with change. It offers excellent insight into how ones preference for change impacts their approach to change and also how that preference is perceived by others with different preferences. The CSI is a well researched, easy to use assessment that is always well received by participants.”

Change Style Indicator® is an assessment instrument designed to measure an individual's preferred style in approaching change and in addressing situations involving change. Three primary styles exist on a continuum:

Conservator - Pragmatist - Originator

The Assessment Tool

The self-scoring assessment instrument uses 22 items to establish a ranking of how the respondent prefers to address and work with change. The instrument addresses both initiated and imposed change and places the respondent on a 132-point continuum between Conserver and Originator with Pragmatist in between. Most individuals are a blend of Conserver–Pragmatist or Pragmatist–Originator; however the degrees of blending are identifiable. The preferences and behaviors associated with 11 scoring segments along this continuum are described in detail in a personalized report when the assessment is administered online.
